NEWARK, N. J.—(AP)—Michigan's Gov. G. Mennen Williams was denounced in signs carried by unionists picketing the Mennen company's shaving cream and talc plant here yesterday.

An AFL union is on strike at the Mennen warehouse in South Kearny.

Typical of the signs was: "G Mennen Williams, governor of Michigan—For votes he's with the working people. For money he's against them."

Samuel Zakman, president of Local 102, United Auto Workers (AFL), said his executive board issued a statement asserting Williams is "a leading executive and stockholder" of the company.

In Lansing, Gov. Williams said he had no knowledge of the strike until it was called to his attention by AFL officials in Michigan. Williams described himself as a minority stockholder. He added he does not take any active part in the company's affairs.

Thirty-five employees at the warehouse walked out Aug. 17. The union said the strike was to gain recognition for its local as bargaining agent.

Saginaw Bay Lashed By Storm; 2 Missing, Properties Damaged

(By The Associated Press)

A howling northeaster on Lake Huron lashed the western shore of the Saginaw bay area Friday night. Outrigger said the terrific wind pushed the water to the highest level in 25 years.

The storm was described as bad as the one that struck Saginaw bay last July 4. Heavy damage to shore properties was reported.

Two fishermen from Au Gres were reported missing in the bay by a small outboard boat.

Waves Hide Cruiser

Four Olinos were rescued on the eastern shore of the bay late Friday after their cabin cruiser had drifted perilously for several hours in heavy seas about a mile off Caseville, Mich. Waves at times 20 feet high hid the cruiser from persons watching ashore.

The missing fishermen are Jacob Zies, 65, and his son, David, 35. They set out into Saginaw bay early yesterday and apparently were caught in the storm.

A search until nightfall disclosed no trace of the men. Chief Boatswain Frank Morey of the East Tawas coast guard station said it was possible the fishermen had taken refuge on Charity Island, 20 miles south of East Tawas.

The Olinos who survived the ordeal in the bay were Mr. and Mrs. C. R. Martin and Mr. and Mrs. Jack Berger, all of Mansfield, O.

Youth, 16, Faces Death As Killer

DETROIT—(AP)—Young Charles Bashlor, at 16 accused of murdering a man, was in custody here today facing a possible execution penalty.

Detectives seized him in a cafe last night after a taxi-dance hall girl's tip that he had tried to date her.

Bashlor, juvenile delinquent described as an "anti-social psychopath," had been sought here for 24 hours in the prowler slaying of banker John A. Stephenson at Jacksonville, Fla., Sunday night.

Stephenson, 62, was shot to death by a prowler whom he trapped in his fashionable Jacksonville home.

Police here waited today for word from Florida as to when authorities in that state want to pick up the boy. Florida exacts the death penalty for murder.

Bashlor surrendered unarmed and without resistance to two detectives. He was unkempt and looked like he needed a bath.

"O. K., you win," he told the officers.

The girl, blonde Lillie Mae Lemoncelli, 22, was with him.

Heat Idles Auto Plants In Detroit

DETROIT — (AP) — Yesterday's heat—95 degrees of it—interfered with Detroit's auto production.

Eleven thousand Chrysler workers were idled. Some were permitted to go home. Others quit and as a result still others had to be laid off.

Last night, however, Detroit's mercury took a nose dive. It went down 35 degrees to the area of the 60's.

Soviets Collect Toll On German Highway

BERLIN — (AP) — The Russians have started collecting tolls from German motorists on the super-highway running through east Germany from Berlin to the west.

It was not immediately clear whether they will try to collect from Allied vehicles using the road.

Tolls, collected in east German marks, run from 2.30 for passenger cars to 23 for trucks.

Allies Rolling Northward In Eastern Korea Battle

Chicago Girl, 6 Brutally Slain In Hobo Jungle

CHICAGO—(AP)—Police chased several clues today in their futile hunt for the brutal killer of six-year-old Yvonne Georgiana Biritz.

The pretty blue-eyed child's body, with her head crushed, was found yesterday in a hobo jungle on the west side. She had been sought all night by police and volunteers after her mother, Mrs. Wanda Biritz, reported her missing about 7:30 p. m. Thursday.

Police said the child may have been swung through the air by her ankles and her head dashed against a makeshift concrete fire place nearby, where hoboes cook their meals.

Medical examination showed that the child had not been molested sexually.

Switchmen for the Chicago Great Western railroad, whose tracks run nearby, said they saw four or five teen-aged boys near the scene. The boys had built a fire and were dancing and running around, they said.

Sgt. Frank Sheehan of the homicide squad said police were considering the possibility that the boys were tormenting the child and accidentally dashed her head against a rock and killed her.

Yvonne's brother, Joseph, nine, said he last saw his sister at 6 p. m. Thursday, talking to a man. A playmate also told a member of the family that Yvonne had been talking to a man in a white shirt and dark trousers.

Australia-New Zealand-U. S. Sign Mutual Defense Treaty

By JOHN M. HIGHTOWER

SAN FRANCISCO — (AP) — The United States, Australia and New Zealand today signed a mutual defense treaty extending this country's security guarantees over a vast new area of the world.

It provides another link in a future Pacific-wide military alliance against the Communist threat and is a curtain-raiser for next week's Japanese peace conference.

Warning To Moscow

Arriving by plane yesterday, Secretary of State Acheson in an obvious reference to Russia said the days ahead would show which are the peaceful nations and which are those that "talk peace while taking action that may impair and prevent the strengthening of peace."

The tripartite pact is conceived by its creators as raising a warning flag to Moscow—against any aggressive thrust into the southwest Pacific. At the same time it places a barrier in the way of any future resurgence of Japanese empire-building.

It will be signed at the historic presidio of San Francisco, headquarters of the U. S. Sixth army, in a setting of military pomp with artillery booming 19-gun salutes to each delegation.

Just before signatures are penned on the three-way treaty, Deputy Foreign Minister Andrei Gromyko is scheduled to lead Russia's 39-member delegation into town for the Japanese peace treaty conference. That conference will be opened by President Truman Tuesday night at the San Francisco Memorial opera house, birthplace of the United Nations.

Gromyko Will Stall

A 20-member Japanese delegation to the peace treaty conference arrived in Honolulu Friday night and is due here Sunday. The delegation is led by Premier Shigeru Yoshida.

Today's treaty signing, like the conclusion in Washington Thursday of a similar U. S.-Philippines defense pact, stands with the Japanese peace treaty—set for signing Sept. 8—as part of a great allied plan to secure the Pacific against any extension of Communist power.

The tripartite and U. S.-Philippines treaties are beyond Russia's reach. But Gromyko is expected to do his utmost to wreck, stall or delay the signing of the Japanese treaty which the United States and Britain are sponsoring as the keynote of the whole security project.

Acheson, Sir Carl Berendsen, New Zealand's ambassador to Washington, and Australian Ambassador Percy C. Spender will sign the southwest Pacific defense treaty at 5:30 p. m. EST.

Attack Pushes Reds Back On 30-Mile Front

Three Hills Taken By UN Forces

By JOHN RANDOLPH

U. S. EIGHTH ARMY HEADQUARTERS, Korea—(AP)—United Nations forces pounded the Reds by land, sea and air today as the pace of war quickened across the Korean peninsula.

On the central and east-central fronts ground troops with air and naval support fought their biggest battle since truce talks started in Kaesong July 10.

High over northwest Korea Allied warplanes tangled in a 20-minute fight with Russian-made jets. Fifth air force pilots claimed one enemy jet probably destroyed. All Allied planes returned to base.

Maj. Winton W. Marshall of Raleigh, N. C., hit the enemy jet claimed as probably destroyed.

The U. N. aircraft were flying cover for fighter bombers smashing at Red supply and communication lines.

Twelve B-29 superbombers based in Japan dropped 60 tons of 1,000 pound bombs on a vital rail bridge in northwest Korea. The bridge is on a main Red supply route.

The ground attack in the east hammered out gains of up to four miles on a 30-mile front. Other gains were reported from the central front.

Heavy mine fields suggested the attackers already have reached the main Red line in the east. Three hills were seized in Eastern Korea and two others in the central sector.

State Fair Off To Bally Start

DETROIT—(AP)—After a bally start because of labor trouble, Michigan's 102nd annual state fair opened on schedule today.

Its opening yesterday, however, was anything but serene.

An AFL-CIO workers' jurisdictional dispute tied just about everything into a knot.

Comedian Bob Hope, singer Marilyn Maxwell and Gov. G. Mennen Williams got left out on lunch. So did other dignitaries in their party. AFL cooks had locked up the food.

The public got in free when no ticket takers showed up at the gates.

With Hope absent, 5,000 spectators sweated it out in 95-degree heat in the Coliseum while waiting vainly for his show to go on.

"I belong to a union, too," Hope said in refusing to cross a picket line of AFL women.

Fair sources said that nonetheless Bob got his $5,000-a-performance pay check.

The trouble stemmed from a dispute whether AFL or CIO union members had the right to sell ginger ale from 20 fair grounds booths.

Finally, it was straightened out. The fair management cancelled its contract with a dispensing company, leaving the ginger ale jurisdiction to the AFL girls.

Communists Bomb Themselves, Make Korea Propaganda

(By The Associated Press)

MUNSAN, Korea — (AP)—Allied investigators said today that if any plane bombed the neutral Korean armistice site this morning—as the Reds claim—it was "an aircraft other than a United Nations aircraft."

The inference was that the Reds staged the bombing themselves, for propaganda purposes.

Craters Faked

Air Force Col. Andrew J. Kinney, senior United Nations liaison officer, told a Red liaison officer in the conference city of Kaesong it was possible that a plane had bombed the Kaesong area early today.

But, Kinney said, there was no evidence to show that the plane involved was an aircraft under United Nations control.

The Red officer, Col. Chang Chun San, accused Kinney of "ulterior motives" and "lying."

Kinney said, "I can see no point in continuing to discuss the matter further."

Kinney told newsmen in Munsan the "bomb craters" he saw could have been caused by a planted ground blast or by explosives dropped from the air. He said there was no evidence to back up either possibility.

Enemy Overplays Hand

Kinney led an investigating team into Kaesong to look into charges made by the Reds earlier in the day. He was accompanied (Continued On Page 12)

Reds Arrested In Los Angeles

LOS ANGELES — (AP) — Three more Communist party leaders were in the Los Angeles county jail today, bringing to 15 the number held here on charges of conspiracy to teach and advocate overthrow of the government by force.

The newcomers are Frank Carlson, 38, chairman of the Communist party's defense committee in Los Angeles; Frank Spector, 55, described by the FBI as an industrial organizer for the party in Los Angeles county, and Ben Dobbs, 39, onetime organizational secretary.

Both Carlson, a Polish born alien, and Spector, a native of Russia, are awaiting deportation proceedings. They were out on bail when FBI agents arrested them yesterday.

All three were arraigned before the U. S. commissioner, who set their bail at $50,000 each, despite their vigorous protests.

The assistant U. S. attorney, Walter S. Binns, said he expects to present the case to the federal grand jury in about 10 days. A preliminary hearing is scheduled for Sept. 14.

Sturgis Lumber Yard Burns Up

STURGIS, Mich. — (AP) — Fire destroyed a big lumber yard here early today, forcing the evacuation of nearby homes by a dozen or more families.

Firemen from neighbor cities, including Howe, Ind., helped Sturgis firemen in a long battle with the blaze.

The fire broke out about 4 a. m. Flames leaped high in the air as stocks in the Citizens Lumber and Coal Co., Inc., were consumed.

Families in adjacent homes were terrified. Fearing the flames would spread to their houses, they brought out their belongings and piled them on the street.

One of the heroes of the blaze was Carl Dauber, a company employee.

Encircled by flames, Dauber drove two cement mixed trucks out of the company garage and through a fence.

Not waiting to open the garage door, he smashed straight through it with the first truck and also smashed through the fence. The trucks are valued at about $30,000.

Flees To Sweden

STOCKHOLM, Sweden — (AP) — A Polish seaman was safe in Sweden today after escaping from a Russian freighter. The 23-year-old Pole jumped the Russian ship Krakow at Vaesteras, 60 miles northwest of Stockholm, yesterday and asked political asylum.

Airbees Newest Combat Troops

By RUTH B. COWAN

WASHINGTON — (AP) — Something new is being added to the air force—the "Airbees."

That's the nickname given the Air Force's proposed new combat ground troops by Chairman Vinson (D-Ga.) of the House armed services committee.

The Air Force would prefer to style them "aviation engineer battalions."

All this came out in a report, just made public, of closed committee hearings on a bill to authorize a $5,768,000,000 military construction program. The measure was passed by the House and is now pending in the Senate.

The House committee spent the major portion of one session mulling over a request for $39,314,000 to build up Camp Beale, Maryville, Calif., as the first training center for an air force fighting ground arm.

The committee wanted to know what these new units are to do—what's their job.

Col. Howard E. Webster, of the Continental Air Command, explained that "aviation engineers have as a mission the construction, maintenance and defense of air fields and air field installations overseas."

Deadlock Is Broken In Copper Strikes

WASHINGTON — (AP) — Settlement of the strike at Kennecott Copper Corp., producer of 35 per cent of the nation's copper, may have paved the way for an early end of the nationwide shutdown which threatened to slow up the defense program.

Kennecott and union leaders reached an agreement yesterday after President Truman called for federal action to end the strike.

Negotiations behind the scenes were started at once with the three major producers. There were hopeful signs that by Monday, at least, settlements would follow at the far flung operations of Phelps-Dodge Corp., American Smelting and Refining Co., and Anaconda Copper Co.

The latter probably will seek a price increase if it bows to the 15-cent "package" wage raise granted by Kennecott to its more than 9,000 workers in Utah, Nevada and New Mexico. Kennecott had agreed earlier to set up a pension system which it estimated would add another 4 1/2 cents to the cost of the raise.

Kennecott indicated it would not go after a price rise. But if Anaconda, which has much higher-cost mining operations below the surface in Montana, gets an increase from the Office of Price Stabilization, the other firms may follow suit.

The laborer at Kennecott now gets $11.05 a day. His new rate would be $11.69.

Top pay under the new wage agreement would go to the electric shovel operator who will get $16.49 a day.

Foreign Aid Slash Approved In Senate

By EDWIN B. HAAKINSON

WASHINGTON — (AP) — The Senate last night approved a $7-286,250,000 foreign aid program to bolster free-world defenses against Communism.

The total was $1,218,750,000 less than the $8,500,000,000 asked by President Truman. And it was $212,500,000 below the authorization passed earlier by the House.

A part of this may be restored by a Senate-House conference committee which will meet later this month to iron out differences in the two measures.

Senate Democratic Leader McFarland of Arizona said today that Senate passage had put the foreign aid program "over the big hump," but many other Senators insisted the main battle will come when Congress gets down to actually voting the money to finance foreign assistance.

The bill that cleared the Senate after two consecutive 12-hour sessions merely authorized the aid. Congress must still put up the money later after the Senate-House differences are adjusted.

Senator Schoepfel (R-Kan.) told a reporter today that the multi-billion dollar tax increase must get through Congress before the foreign funds are voted.

"The tax bill, piling staggering burdens on top of a tax load already too heavy, will bring an even stronger fight for economy on foreign aid than we have seen on the authorization bill," he warned.

Six Injured In Auto Crashes

None Seriously Hurt, Officers Report

Six persons were injured, none seriously, yesterday afternoon in three auto accidents on highways in Delta county, state police of the Gladstone post reported today.

First of the accidents occurred shortly after noon yesterday at the Escanaba river bridge on county road 420 when a car driven by Earl Tang of 1307 Wisconsin avenue, Gladstone, went out of control and hit a guard rail. Tang sustained a lacerated right hand.

Slippery pavement on US-2 in the St. Jacques section caused accidents injuring five other persons shortly after 2 p. m.

Jeff Williams, 66, Riverside, Mich., sustained a cut nose and his wife, Helen, 43, cuts on the left leg when the car skidded out of control and rolled over.

While state police were investigating the accident, and within sight of them, four cars were involved in another accident that injured three persons.

Drivers of the four cars were Hazel Hazen, 50, Gladstone; Leonard Sundline, 23, Chicago; E. E. Roberts, 58, Minneapolis; and Dr. Cole Truman, 70, Winnipeg, Canada.

Dr. Truman and his wife, Ada, sustained facial cuts, and Christine Trapp, 88, occupant of their car, cuts on the body.

Conservation Body To Meet Sept. 7 At Copper Harbor

The conservation commission will hold its meeting Sept. 7 in one of the historic buildings at Fort Wilkins State Park, Copper Harbor.

This is the first time the Fort buildings have been put to a use other than sightseeing since they were restored and probably since the Fort was discontinued as a military base in 1870.

Fort Wilkins was established at the northernmost point of Michigan's mainland in 1844, as a protection for prospectors from hostile Indians, after rich deposits of copper were discovered in the region. The buildings, except the stone powder magazine, were built of timbers floated across Lake Fanny Hooe.

The Fort was purchased in 1921 by Houghton and Keweenaw counties and deeded to the state in 1922 for a state park. It is the only stockaded post between the Alleghenies and the Mississippi river standing as originally built.

While attending the meeting the commission will stay at Keweenaw Park Resort, Copper Harbor.

Escanaba, Cornell and Ford River students are transported to High schools in Escanaba, and Brampton High school pupils are transported to Gladstone.

Lunch programs in the four townships will start about Sept. 17.

In Escanaba township the new school at Flat Rock is expected to be ready for occupancy about Jan. 1. Escanaba township has one new teacher, Lawrence Smith of near Wilson, who will teach in the Sovoy school.

St. Patrick's School Opens

Four Grades In New Building

About 140 students will be on hand Wednesday when St. Patrick's school opens with a nine o'clock mass in the church.

This year four grades will be taught. Grades five and six will be added in the next two years. Catechetical classes for the fifth and sixth grades and junior and senior high school will be held after school and in the evening, as in former years. The four grades at St. Patrick's will involve regular elementary school curriculum.

The school will be conducted by the Sisters of St. Dominic of Adrian, Mich. Teaching here will be Sister Geraldine, O.P., principal; Sister Johnita, O.P., Sister Caribim, O.P., and Sister Ruth Frances, O.P.

Five classrooms will be ready in the modern, fire-proof 131-by-125 feet building. Work continues on a sixth classroom.

The building has all-steel joists and ceilings, Kasota stone outside walls, acoustical type fibre-glass ceilings and inside walls of Haydite block. Each classroom has a full wall of glass block and glass. In the classrooms to be used are stained-glass window memorials to former pastors. They are Fr. Langan (1901-1911), Fr. Barth (1911-1922), Fr. Mockler (1923-1933), and Fr. Kennedy (1934-1945).

When students enter the rooms they will see green chalkboards and corkboard bulletin boards. These chalkboards won't glare, and as a result they enable much easier reading. The corkboards self-seal tack punctures, and are more durable. Shadows in the rooms are eliminated by directed lighting. No two rooms have the same color scheme.

Although the building, designed by architect Harry W. Gjelsteen of Menominee, will be heated from new boilers in the church, desirable air-conditioning is assured with automatically-controlled unit ventilators. These ventilators, said Harold Olson of Olson and Flath, building contractors, who are constructing the school, circulate the air in the rooms and would provide heat for any emergency.

Start Construction Of New Pine Ridge School

Construction of a new school at Pine Ridge with a seating capacity of 100 pupils is now starting, with expectation the building will be completed and equipped ready for use by Sept. 1, 1952.

Cost of the project, including the building, equipment and furnishings will total about $77,000.

Olson & Flath, Escanaba contractors, are moving equipment to the six acre site located one-quarter mile north of US-2-41 on Pine Ridge road. Olson & Flath's bid of $47,649 for the structure was lowest of four bids.

Meet Area Needs

Other bids for heating, lighting and plumbing brought the total for building construction to $68,530, and the additional cost of equipment and furnishings will be about $8,000.

The new school will meet the pupil needs of the Pine Ridge area and will end the necessity of transporting Pine Ridge students to Newhall and Wells Central schools. There are now 22 pupils at the present Pine Ridge one-room school; 35 are being transported to Newhall school; and 40 to Wells Central.

It is expected the contractor will have the building housed-in by Dec. 1 this year and interior work will continue through the winter.

Building 88 Feet Long

The building will be constructed of brick and cinder block, will contain three class rooms 28 by 28 feet, a lunch room, kitchen, teacher and clinic room, two toilet rooms, and a boiler room.

Over-all dimensions of the new school will be 88 feet long and 58 feet wide. The building is so designed that in the future an addition of three more class rooms can be constructed.

Heating will be with an oil-fired automatically controlled low-pressure steam system; all floors will have asphalt tile covering with hard polished tile in the toilet rooms. All interior trim will be of oak, and ceilings will be acoustical tile.

Modern Equipment

Modern lighting fixtures, together with aluminum ribbon casement windows, with light-directing glass block in upper sections, and clerestory windows will give ample light in all rooms.

Equipment in the building will include movable cabinets in student wardrobes and for the teachers; and individual work sinks in each class room.

The project is being financed with funds on hand with the Wells township board of education, and with surplus state sales tax diversion funds from the township to be transferred to the board of education. The voters of the township approved the fund transfer in a referendum held earlier this year.

Earl Iverson is president of the board of education, Joseph Whitney is secretary; Louis Dufour treasurer; Joseph Berube and Earl Vanlerberghe jr. trustees. Lawrence Klug is superintendent.

Frankfort Ferry No Solution To Michigan Auto Traffic Problems

THE Menominee Chamber of Commerce and business interests in Menominee are working feverishly to get a state-operated ferry service between Frankfort and Menominee. Some political enthusiasm has been developed for the project and preliminary surveys made to get estimates of costs.

A state ferry between Menominee and Frankfort would not solve the inter-peninsula traffic problem, nor make a really substantial contribution towards a solution. As a matter of fact, Escanaba would be a far more desirable Upper Peninsula terminal for the proposed ferry service than Menominee would be because the water run is shorter to Escanaba and because Escanaba is more centrally located in the Upper Peninsula.

But neither a Frankfort-Menominee ferry service nor a Frankfort-Escanaba ferry service is an adequate solution to the inter-peninsula traffic problem. The only practical solution is the construction of a bridge across the Straits of Mackinac. Any other project designed to bring the two peninsulas closer together would serve only to dilute support for the bridge project and delay the day when the Straits of Mackinac will be spanned.

Carferry service is now available between Frankfort and Menominee and also between Frankfort and Manistique, provided by the Ann Arbor railroad. Car traffic is not heavy on either of these runs now and never has been. It is true that some of the unfavorable aspects of the railroad ferry service could be eliminated under a state-operated ferry but it also is doubtful that a ferry run of 100 miles across the lake would come even close to being self-supporting.

Quorum Call Is Outdated

THE other day Senator Capehart of Indiana fell down while rushing to answer a "quorum call" in the Senate. He apparently suffered but slightly.

Perhaps if the mishap had been a little more dramatic—say the derailment of the Senate's underground rail car bearing a full load of senators from their offices to the Capitol—it might have served to draw proper attention to the absurdity of the quorum call procedure.

Sometimes an hour or more of a day's Senate session is consumed by these dreary run-downs of the roster to make certain enough senators are present to satisfy minimum requirements for legislative action. Each roll call takes about 20 minutes.

Often the call is merely routine. No action is pending, but some senator is disturbed because the audience for his dull remarks is small.

Each year the Senate drags on later and later in getting through its necessary business. The 81st Congress didn't adjourn until early January, 1951, though its successor was due to begin work at that very time. There are lots of reasons for this increasing delay. But surely one of them is the outmoded roll call and voting procedure which makes the Senate sound like a bus station half the time. The clerk stops just short of shouting "all points West."

Other Editorial Comments

AN UNSAVORY CASE (Christian Science Monitor)

American occupation authorities may have very correct technical reasons for intervening against German courts in behalf of Dr. Hans Wermitz, former Berlin lawyer accusing of having aided Soviet kidnappings of 17 persons in 1945 and 1946; but they have certainly chosen an unpopular and untimely figure to defend, and have placed themselves in an awkward light before Germans loyal to western concepts of freedom.

Mayor Ernst Reuter, who has been heroic in defense of West Berlin against Russian pressures, has declared that he cannot constitutionally direct the Berlin state court to give up jurisdiction of a case in which it awarded damages to the widow of one of Kemritz's victims. The man subsequently died in an East German concentration camp.

To Berliners who have lived under the menace of several hundred Communist political kidnappings during more than five years this is an emotionally charged subject. American officials say Kemritz made "a valuable contribution to western security" after he quit the Russian zone in 1946.

For that service he should have been rewarded, but need the reward include protection against his own countrymen for participation in a traffic in human lives? And protection of his property in Berlin against levy by the German court to satisfy its judgment? Kemritz is no longer in Berlin and may no longer be in Germany. From this distance it looks as if occupation authorities would do well to desist from further action in the case.

A—A Soldier's Medal is awarded to the members of the armed forces who, while serving in any capacity with the Army, distinguish themselves by heroism not involving actual conflict with an enemy and not in aerial flight.

Merry-Go-Round

By MAURICE J. TOBIN

WASHINGTON—I'd like to use this moment in the conductor's chair of the Merry-Go-Round to pass out some brass rings to the American worker and his boss.

So much has been written about their quarrels and their problems that we tend to forget their joint accomplishments. Together they have built a remarkable record of industrial peace. Together, with the help of that record, they have made America the most productive nation on earth.

Most people have learned to read of killings and robberies in the newspapers with the realization that these things are the exceptions and not the rule in American life. But too many fail to apply the same understanding to stories of strikes and labor-management disputes.

It cannot be pointed out too often that most of the workers and most of the employers settle their problems most of the time in a peaceful way. The newspapers emphasize the strike rather than the peaceful settlement, because the strike is the exception. If it were the rule, it would not be news.

LITTLE TIME LOST

The number of man-days lost through strikes in the United States last year was only one half of 1 per cent of the number of man-days worked.

Most of the time the worker and his boss get along. In plants all over the country, they or their representatives sit across the bargaining table and use the techniques of collective bargaining that have been encouraged by the government for the last sixteen years.

Since 1935, it has been the public policy of the United States to encourage labor and management to work out their problems through collective bargaining. The policy, which developed over half a century, was stated in the Wagner act and has been restated by Congress in subsequent legislation. In 1937, 58 per cent of all strikes dealt with questions of union organizations and recognition; in 1950, only 19 per cent occurred over such conditions.

The government urges both sides to sit down and talk things over. It doesn't force them to agree, but it urges them to try. The government can only encourage collective bargaining. Labor and management have made it work.

They have developed contracts setting forth the rights and obligations of each side. They have developed unwritten understandings that help them meet day-to-day problems without friction.

They have developed the practice of arbitrating disputes over the interpretation of contracts. If they can't settle such a dispute themselves, they ask an impartial umpire or board of umpires to settle it for them. Over 80 per cent of collective bargaining contracts now provide for arbitration.

COLLECTIVE BARGAINING

Collective bargaining has become the key to industrial peace in the United States. Collective bargaining is what the government is counting on most heavily in this critical defense period to keep stoppages of production at an absolute minimum.

The cooperative efforts of labor and management, however, can contribute far more to the defense effort than a mere reduction of strikes. The worker and his boss as a team showed what they could do during World War II.

They can work together to increase production and get rid of the bottlenecks. They can promote plant safety and reduce industrial accidents. They can work on problems of absenteeism and bad morale.

They can work together to meet manpower problems; to get the right worker in the right job; to arrange for training; to recruit women and older workers and handicapped workers for suitable defense jobs.

Just as labor and management have worked together to meet the problems of the plant, they must work together to meet the problems of the nation. The preservation of the free way of life they both believe in is a goal that should bring forth their very best.

And today, while I sit at the controls, all the brass rings on the Merry-Go-Round are theirs. What matters is not the few instances in which they have failed, but the many in which they have succeeded. What matters is not the exception, but the rule.

And the rule is the peaceful settlement of disputes rather than strikes; the rule is cooperation rather than conflict. That is what needs to be emphasized in the United States today. The need is for less criticism and more understanding.

I hope these few brass rings have contributed to that end.

Into The Past

10 YEARS AGO

Escanaba—Two weeks after the fair is over I'm still hearing that merry-go-round ringing in my ears, says Joe Godin, barkeep at the VFW stand, which happened to be right in front of said MGR concession. Rain or shine Wednesday, the children's day crowds gave the carousel steady patronage.

Gladstone—First day enrollment of pupils in the Gladstone public school system totaled 921, according to figures announced yesterday by Supt. A. R. Watson. Senior enrollment is 88.

20 YEARS AGO

Escanaba—Mr. and Mrs. John B. Nault of Marquette, who recently celebrated their golden wedding anniversary at a family reunion, are treasuring a letter of congratulation received by them from President Herbert Hoover. Mr. and Mrs. Nault are the parents of Arthur Nault of Oak Park, Ill., formerly of Escanaba.

Gladstone—August was a fireless month as far as Gladstone was concerned, not a single call having been turned in to the local department. It was the first time in a long period that the department had had no calls or there have been no fires throughout an entire month. The record in July was almost as good only a few calls for minor blazes being answered during that hot period.

Manistique—Manistique high school's 1931 grid machine, numbering approximately 40 candidates, started its season's grind yesterday afternoon under the supervision of William Cook, local veteran football mentor.

Prelude To Final Victory

Anniversary Recalls DeGrasse, Most Neglected, Tragic Hero Of Yorktown

BY MARY JANE MOORE

Exactly 170 years ago this week there took place a dramatic but almost forgotten event which was to be decisive in America's war for independence, and it recalls a man whose spectacular career, ending in tragedy, has enough drama for several scenarios.

When the fleet of Comte Francois Joseph De Grasse dropped anchor in Lynnhaven Bay, inside the capes of the Chesapeake, on August 30, 1781, the most important single link in George Washington's plans for the siege of Yorktown was forged, the doom of Lord Cornwallis and his army was sealed, and the victorious end of the Revolution was clearly in sight. The British were not to surrender for another two months, but on August 30 De Grasse's arrival definitely set the stage for the capitulation which, to all intents and purposes, was to end the long, uneven struggle.

Until almost the last moment there had been uncertainty not only as to where the French fleet would anchor, but even whether it would take part in the campaign. The fleet's main task was, and had been, to engage the British in the West Indies. When consent finally was given to enable De Grasse's ships to take part, it was on condition that they were not to stay away from the original base more than two months.

Hinged on French

Thus, the Yorktown campaign hinged largely on the presence of the French fleet and the whole tremendous task had to be done within a few weeks.

Following an historic conference between Rochambeau and Washington the former wrote to De Grasse:

"Such is the crisis in which America, and especially the southern states, are now involved. The arrival of the Comte De Grasse may save the situation. The resources which we have can accomplish nothing without his assistance and the naval superiority which he can furnish us. There are two points where the enemy can be attacked; the Chesapeake, and New York. . . . You will probably prefer Chesapeake Bay and it is here we think you can render the greatest service."

De Grasse followed Rochambeau's suggestion and chose the Chesapeake. On July 28 he wrote the latter, regretting "the distress in which the American continent is involved," and announcing that on August 13 his fleet would sail for Chesapeake Bay. He stated further that he would carry with him 3,000 French soldiers from San Domingo, commanded by the Marquis de Saint-Simon. In addition, he was to bring 1,500,000 livres, money sorely needed by the Americans.

The French fleet commander said that upon arrival the ships would await further orders, but emphasized that their assistance must be brief, that the soldiers were borrowed, and the men-of-war themselves must return to their southern station by October 15.

"Employ me promptly and usefully that time may be turned to profit," De Grasse wrote in friendly warning "You will appreciate the necessity of employing well time that is precious."

Saint-Simon's troops, which De Grasse brought from San Domingo, were landed at Jamestown. On August 25 Commodore Barras left Newport with his French fleet and joined with that of De Grasse. On August 19 the combined French and American land forces under Washington departed from New York, completely hood-winking the British, and executed a swift brilliant movement which took them to the threshold of Yorktown.

Thus, the French fleet from the West Indies and an American-French army from New York formed a junction which made impossible the escape of Cornwallis from the strategic Virginia village of Yorktown.

However, there still remained the menace of the English fleet under Admiral Graves. He crowded all sail and arrived at the mouth of Chesapeake Bay on September 5.

Both fleets immediately prepared for action. The French had the advantage with 24 ships-of-the-line, 1,700 guns, and about 19,000 seamen. The equipment of Graves included nineteen ships-of-the-line and five frigates with about 1,400 guns.

The engagement began at four o'clock in the afternoon after much maneuvering. Neither side won a decisive victory and for five days the fleets remained in sight of each other. Injuries to the British fleet were so severe that Graves decided he could do nothing further until his vessels had been repaired. He sat sail for New York, leaving Cornwallis to his fate.

Cornwallis was cut off on all sides, but until Washington arrived on the scene with his army there might have been a chance to escape since his force was superior to that of Lafayette. The British general considered an assault for the purpose of breaking through. However, he gave it up as too dangerous. It would have meant a fierce and probably fruitless battle. Besides, having no more inkling of Washington's movements than did Sir Henry Clinton in New York when the former began his surprise march, Cornwallis felt that Admiral Graves would return later to drive off De Grasse's fleet.

On September 14, Washington himself arrived at Lafayette's camp and by the 26th the northern army of 10,000 men was concentrated at Williamsburg. The siege of Yorktown opened, with the first parallel drawn on October 6 by General Lincoln.

On October 11 the second parallel was drawn within 300 yards of the British works by Von Steuben.

Hamilton In Fight

Alexander Hamilton and Baron de Viemeil carried two of the enemy's redoubts by storm on the night of October 14, and on the next night the British raided without success. Under the fire of 70 cannon the works of Yorktown began to fall on October 16, and on the 17th the white flag appeared above the British lines. Then came final negotiations, and two days later 7,247 British soldiers and 840 seamen marched out and surrendered, the strains of "The World Turned Upside Down" ringing in their ears.

Complete was the victory at Yorktown, Washington was anxious to stamp out all British influence in the South and wanted very much to utilize further the assistance of De Grasse and his fleet. The day Cornwallis surrendered, Washington wrote to the French commander suggesting an expedition against Charleston which, if successful, the American leader felt would destroy British hopes completely.

This letter failed to accomplish its purpose. The fleet already had overstayed its allotted time and on November 4 De Grasse and his vessels left Chesapeake Bay. When he turned his back on that body of water which is so conspicuous in our country's history, the Frenchman left the scene of his greatest triumph and turned his face toward defeat and disgrace.

Flushed with the victory at Yorktown, De Grasse sailed for the West Indies. The Virginia campaign was regarded by both De Grasse and the French court as an interlude; the chief task of the fleet was to engage the British in southern waters for control of the West Indian islands.

Three weeks after weighing anchor in the Chesapeake, De Grasse arrived at Martinique. It was not until Spring that De Grasse met the great British admiral, George Brydges Rodney, in one of the most disastrous naval engagements of modern times. This battle, which took place near "The Saints," brought about the downfall of De Grasse.

English Fleet Superior

Although the English fleet was superior to the French in men and armament, authorities agree that its chief advantage lay in the greater naval skill of the British officers. De Grasse fought a valiant but uninspired battle. At Yorktown he was a vital cog, but only a cog after all, in the brilliant plan that Washington evolved and executed. Left to his own devices De Grasse failed badly.

More than three thousand men and five ships were lost by the French, including the flagship, and De Grasse himself was captured. English losses, while not nearly so great, were not wholly negligible. To add to the horror of the battle, the sharks indignant to those waters followed the vessels, darting after bodies heaved overboard.

Upon his return to Paris after his release, De Grasse naturally found public and private sentiment arrayed strongly against him. King and court were cold, and he demanded and was given a court martial. Although after a protracted investigation De Grasse was exonerated, he was thoroughly disgraced and his active naval career ended. To add to his troubles he married for a third time, and unwisely.

De Grasse Eulogized

Upon De Grasse's death in 1788, Washington wrote a letter of regret to Rochambeau which included the following cogent appraisal of the unfortunate comte:

"Yet his death is not, perhaps, so much to be deplored as his later days were to be pitied. It seemed as if an unfortunate and unrelenting destiny pursued him, to destroy the enjoyment of earthly comfort. The disastrous battle of the 12th of April, the loss of favor with his King, and the subsequent connection in marriage with an unworthy woman, were sufficient to have made him weary of the burden of life."

Good Evening...

By CLINT DUNATHAN

NEW TEACHERS—Most of them come to Escanaba fresh out of college, with enthusiasm in their hearts and a little practice teaching in their history of experience.

Now their training is to be put to the test. This is their first job. Will they really like teaching? What kind of a town is Escanaba and will they be happy here?

Adjustment of new teachers to the community they will serve is important both to the teacher and the boys and girls they will teach. In Escanaba, through the cooperation of the Chamber of Commerce, and the friendly efforts of school officials, faculty, and townspeople, the new teachers are quickly made to feel at home.

One of the welcoming features is a dinner, such as that served Thursday evening at the House of Ludington, where new teachers are introduced and have the opportunity to meet Escanaba people at a social gathering.

AND THE TOWN—Before the dinner we talked briefly with George Ruwitch, assistant superintendent, and in response to our questions he told us that not many towns are so friendly and hospitable in their welcome to new teachers.

This was corroborated later in our conversation with two teachers, one new and the other returning for the second year.

"In most places the teachers arrive in town one day and go to work the next, without meeting other teachers or the people," they reported.

Both of the teachers expressed the pleasure they found in having the opportunity to come to Escanaba early, join with other teachers in meetings to become better acquainted with them and the school system in which they are to teach.

"And I like it when I can find a place to stay, get my things settled, and have that out of the way a few days before I start work," said the young woman teacher. "It makes me feel at home," she added, smiling.

YOUNG IN SPIRIT—All of the new teachers coming here are on the youthful side of life. They have enthusiasm and an optimistic outlook, certainly an essential in anyone working with youngsters.

This thought was well expressed by one of the new teachers, who told me of an experience in college. There the instructor asked the teachers-in-training why they wanted to be teachers.

"One man replied that he had been in business with his father—but he didn't like to meet people so he thought he would try teaching! All of us agreed that he should get into some other field."

A teacher must like people and be genuinely fond of children if he or she is to be successful, said this young woman. "Children are people, too," she said.

TOUCH OF HUMOR—The dinner conversation was, the program informal. Erwin Wolff, Escanaba Junior high school faculty member, saw to it as toastmaster. His introduction of Dr. Robert S. Fox, here from University of Michigan for the teachers' conference, set the tone of the get-acquainted gathering.

"I think we must be related, somewhere back in evolution, for I'm a Wolff and he is a Fox," Wolff said.

Mrs. Fox was next introduced and responded with the announcement that her maiden name was—Burrows!

WITH GOOD WISHES—Guests at the dinner included representatives of the sponsors and of the Escanaba Chamber of Commerce and the board of education.

Mrs. N. L. Lindquist, president of the board of education, expressed the purpose of the dinner meeting when in welcoming the new teachers she said: "We hope that you will be happy in Escanaba and in your work."

On the way out after the dinner one of the young teachers, chatting with new-found friends, was overheard to say earnestly, "Oh, I like Escanaba already!"

SATURDAY MISCELLANY

Auburn: I wish you'd please make folks stop saying "MAK-i-NAK" for Mackinac Island. And then tell us all why the pronunciation is wrong.—L. A. C.

Answer: Folks, stop saying "MAK-i-NAK"! The only sanctioned pronunciation is: MAK-i-naw. As a matter of fact, the word Mackinaw (coat) is a variant spelling of the name Mackinac. The "c" is silent in Mackinac probably because of the influence of French-speaking Canadians, for in French final "c" in many words is not pronounced; for example, tabac in French is pronounced: ta-ba (both a's flat as in "carrot"); porc is pronounced: pawr.

Cleveland: Will you please tell us the literal meaning, and, if possible, give the derivation of the word "hassle" that has become popular with sportswriters?—J. T. O'C.

Answer: Hassle (also spelled hassel, or hessle) is a dialectal word heard primarily in the Southern states. It means "to pant; to breathe noisily"; hence, by extension, "commotion; emotional or confused talk."

The original of hassle is uncertain, but it is probable that it came from the old verb (now dialectal), hazle, "to make or become dry."

Nashville: I am seeing the word Nisei used in newspapers nowadays much too often to remain in ignorance of what it means. Will you please define and pronounce?—L. J.

Answer: Nisei (pronounced: NEE-say) refers to "second generation," or American born children of Japanese-born parents. Issei, another word encountered frequently these days, refers to Japanese born in Japan, but now living in the United States. Issei is pronounced: EE-say. Kibei, pronounced: KEE-bay, designates those American-born Japanese who have returned to Japan to live, or to study.

Most families will agree that mother is the real head of the house—and gets all the headaches that go with it.

No Demand For Socialized Medicine

A writer whose business is to keep in touch with national affairs has said, "Today in Washington circles that formerly advocated compulsory health insurance, it is considered the height of impropriety to mention it."

What has caused this rather remarkable about-face in political circles that keep their ears to the ground and their eyes on the voter? The answer is obvious. The American people, taken as a whole, want no part of socialized medicine, political medicine, or any kind of medicine that would be under government domination.

There is powerful evidence to support that statement. More than 11,000 organizations—including leading national groups which represent agriculture, labor, industry, the veterans, university women, and so on—have taken a solid stand against compulsory health insurance.

The American Press, a magazine which is concerned with the problems and activities and attitudes of weekly newspapers, reported that "greater support was shown for the American Medical Association's campaign to fight government medicine than ever has been shown in any other national campaign—including government wartime campaigns!" It is a noteworthy fact that a great majority of our newspapers, rural and urban alike, have strongly opposed compulsory health insurance.

This isn't because the American people believe medicine is perfect. It is because they believe progress can best be made under the present free system—and because they are impressed with the immense strides forward that have already been taken. Today, for example, more than 72,000,000 people are enrolled in one or another of the voluntary health insurance systems. The number thus covered jumped 20,000,000 in two years. We are gradually solving the medical care problem—and solving it without political compulsion.

The Schools

Parents ought to say a special prayer when school begins each year, thanking God for education that is free from any fear. For there's not another country in the world we know today, which provides the kind of training, with its classes and its play, that will teach a kid democracy and freedom as a right, and that these are things for which we ever have to stand and fight.

And we also should be grateful for the women and the men, who have found a joy in teaching and are back at work again, helping boys and girls to understand the wonders of the past, and prepare them for the future with a knowledge that will last. For we've found that if a youngster gets the proper kind of start, it's because of one who has a love of teaching in his heart.

Let us pause for just a moment then, when bells ring out once more, and with pride and understanding see our children at the door, of the valued public schoolhouse and the things for which it stands, and the way it always safely guides the work of little hands. It's a privilege that comes each year to brighten up our lives, and it's ours to know and cherish just as long as faith survives.

The Shaw

Designed for Comfortable Living,
Easy Upkeep

Rooms ..... Five
Bedrooms ..... Two
Closets ..... Five
Cubage ..... 17,500 ft.
Dimensions ..... 39' x 24'

This carefully planned, modern home measures 39' x 24' and has a cubage of 17,500 feet. At least a 60 foot lot would be required to hold "The Shaw". While no garage is specified in the accompanying plan, either an attached or detached garage could be constructed. However, if you plan to have a garage built either at the time the house is constructed or at some later date, you'll need a larger lot, of course.

Clapboards or shingles can be used to make a most attractive exterior finish for "The Shaw." Masonry or a combination of wood and masonry can be used on the exterior, if you prefer. However, if you do use wood you'll find white the most suitable color; relay upon colored asphalt roofing to add warmth and brightness and, with the outside chimney and handsome picture window, to give a distinctive decorative touch to the house exterior.

The slight roof overhang provides welcome protection for the front door of this friendly modified ranch house. In the entry hall, which actually is a part of the central hallway connecting with all the rooms in "The Shaw," there is a large sized coat closet in the left wall. In the right wall an open archway leads to the 19' x 13'4" living room.

There'll be good times a-plenty in the spacious living room for the family that builds "The Shaw." The large picture window centered in the front wall, and the fireplace centered in the right wall, help to make this room more attractive and also to give it a more homey and friendly appearance.

Well Planned Room

Because the room is well planned with all the doorways so located as to leave the center of the room free of traffic, furniture arrangement presents no problem. The window in the right wall admits extra light and ventilation to the living room; for still more light you can have a French door leading from the living room to the side piazza.

Measuring 11' x 8', the side piazza can be screened, glassed or left open, as you prefer. This piazza can be reached from the dining room as well as from the living room. If you so desire a doorway and stairs can be built to connect the piazza directly with the yard.

Windows on two exposures provide good lighting and ventilation for the 11'4" x 10' dining room. A china closet built into the left front corner of the room makes a handy place to keep your best silverware and china. It can be constructed with drawers making up the bottom section so as to provide a convenient storage spot for your clean table linen. Such built-ins are doubly useful for they save floor space by eliminating the necessity for using regular furniture type china cabinets.

Opening directly off the dining room, the kitchen contains a wealth of counter and cabinet space that is placed where it will do the most good. Double windows in the back wall provide good light and ample ventilation for the kitchen which is 12' x 11'4" in dimensions; the sink is placed directly under these windows. At the right end of the L shaped array of working counters is the stove.

Extra Counter Handy

The refrigerator should be placed against the front kitchen wall. You'll find the extra counter space beside the refrigerator very handy when you're removing foods from the refrigerator and also when you're putting them away. A door in the back wall opens on a porch leading to the yard; to the left of this door is a large broom closet that can

There is also cross ventilation and good light in the front bedroom which has one window in the front wall and one in the left wall. This room has an unusually large closet the back of which could be used for general storage purposes.

In the full cement basement of "The Shaw," the heating plant should be installed under the living room; the laundry under the kitchen. Be sure to provide bulkheads for safe and easy access to the yard from the basement. There will be ample area in the basement for a good sized recreation room, as well as plenty of sure-to-be appreciated storage space.

Miss Catherine Rose And John E. Kroll Wed At Gladstone

Three bridal aides in gowns of forest green fabric preceded Miss Catherine J. Rose up the white carpeted aisle of All Saints church in Gladstone this morning when she exchanged nuptial vows with John Edward Kroll of Escanaba. The double ring ceremony took place at 10 o'clock with Rev. Fr. Matt LaViolette, officiating.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, was lovely in a gown of heavy white tulle. She carried a long train, the sleeves of which were trimmed with a wide white lace. The stiff, highly starched collar came in a V in the front, meeting several seed like buttons extending to the waist. The sleeves tapered to points at the wrist and were fastened with tiny seed buttons. Her elbow length veil was held in place by a snug fitting mil cap made of the same material as her gown. She carried an all white moire faille covered bridal missal with baby mums atop and streamers extending to the waistline. Her only jewelry was a string of tiny pearls and earrings.

Her attendants' gowns had quarter length sleeves and off the shoulder stand up collars coming to a wide V in the front with criss-cross pleated bands on the bodice. They wore metallic wired helmets with rolled brims of forest green velvet and carried colonial bouquets of bronze and gold chrysanthemums.

Traditional Music
Miss Mary E. Rose, sister of the bride was maid of honor and the bridesmaids were Margaret Rose, another sister of the bride and Carolyn Kroll, sister of the groom. Best man was Donald Lewis. Ushers were Frank Sudac, Jr., and James Bichler.

The music of the Mass was sung by the church choir with Miss Mary Joe Bolger, organist, playing the wedding march and as the bride part left the church, "On This Day, O Beautiful Mother." Ave Marie was sung at the offertory.

Mrs. Rose watched her daughter's wedding in a deep purple ensemble trimmed with darker purple velvet and rhinestones. Dove grey accessories completed her attire.

Mrs. Kroll chose a navy blue and white afternoon dress with navy accessories. Both mothers wore like corsages of baby mums in colors complementing their costumes.

Reception For 250
A wedding breakfast, with covers for 35 guests, close relatives and friends, was served at the Log cabin at 12 o'clock.

A reception is being held this afternoon at the bride's parental home from three to 5:30, for two hundred and fifty guests. Huge bouquets of colored gladioli and streamers of mint green and yellow form the home decorations. The large dining room table was centered by a tiered wedding cake topped by a miniature bride and groom. Miss Bette Sigan of Gladstone and Mrs. John Greis, Jr., of Escanaba, presided at the silver service and served the wedding cake.

The young couple will leave later in the day on a honeymoon to an undisclosed destination. For traveling the bride has selected a mauve colored suit with brilliant green accents the hipline pocket and lapel. Navy accessories will complete her attire. Upon their return, they will reside at 1421 8th avenue south in Escanaba.

Mrs. Kroll is a graduate of Gladstone High School, class of 1947. She has been employed as a secretary with the Liberty Mutual Insurance Co., of Milwaukee. The groom was graduated from St. Joseph's High School, class of 1946. He served 18 months in the Merchant Marine and is employed by the Harnischfeger Corp.

Hall Explains Six-Year Rule

Says Experience
Proves It Sound

"The normal age for admission of a child to first grade is six years, and this should be considered when children are enrolled in kindergarten," it is announced by A. F. Hall, superintendent of Manistique public schools. "If they are enrolled before five years of age they must spend two years in kindergarten."

A recent bulletin of the National Education association, which is representative of the best thought in reading instruction, indicates that children should not be introduced to reading until they have attained the physical, mental and social maturity of six to six and one-half years, Hall pointed out.

The parents' estimate of the readiness of a child for entrance to the first grade is normally less trustworthy than that of a teacher for three reasons, the superintendent said. He listed these as follows:

A teacher has made a detailed study of child nature and child development and is trained to make those estimates.

The parent judges the child as a unit or at the most as a member of a very small group.

The teacher's judgment is not likely to be influenced as is the parent's by personal affection.

"There have been occasions in the past," Hall said, "when in deference to parental wishes and urgings children have been permitted to enter the first grade in opposition to the carefully matured judgment of the teacher and principal. The proportion of cases where the children have encountered difficulties which marred their later school careers has been great enough to convince the school authorities that there is much less danger in delaying promotion beyond six than in promoting at an earlier age."

"It is the desire and aim of the school authorities of Manistique to serve the best interests of the children, which is likewise the ambition of parents."

"Parents are urged to recognize six years as the age when the normal child will be promoted to the first grade, and that they should not anticipate promotion before that age," the superintendent stated.

Escanaba Circuits Knocked Out During Storm Yesterday

Long distance telephone service between Manistique and Escanaba was restored at 5 p. m. yesterday after being out since the severe electrical storm early yesterday morning.

One circuit to Escanaba went back into service at 5 and the other five circuits were in operation by 9 o'clock last night.

Long distance telephone communication with St. Ignace and Sault Ste. Marie was not interrupted by the storm.

State police radio communication here also was knocked out during the storm, and was not restored until 11:20 a. m. yesterday. A blown fuse was the cause.

Hugh Kennedy, manager of the Michigan Associated Telephone company here, reported that local lines were not seriously affected.

Chain lightning pulsing almost continuously for approximately an hour early yesterday morning featured the storm, one of the worst to hit this area this season. It is reported that this type of lightning is common in the prairie states and in the south but is unusual for the upper Great Lakes region.

Drive Carefully ...

The Labor Day weekend is usually a rugged one on the highways. In addition to the thousands returning home from their vacations, the highways will be crowded with thousands more out on a weekend jaunt. Traffic will almost be at its yearly peak.

This can mean trouble and tragedy to a lot of people if motorists are not careful. So drive carefully this weekend. Don't take chances passing on curves or hills. Keep your speed down. And, above all, keep a sharp look-out for the other motorist — he is the guy whose carelessness may cause you trouble.

Happy, safe motoring to all.

Two Women Receive Minor Injuries In Crash Last Night

Two persons received minor injuries in a two-car accident at 6:05 o'clock last night at a road barricade on US-2 near the Delta-Schoolcraft county line.

Injured were Correen B. Corribeau, 28, of 1346 Lee Gate road, Washington, D. C., who received a scratched shin, and Mrs. Doris Markosky, 48, of the same Washington address, who sustained shock and a scalp cut. Both were treated at the Wehner Clinic in Manistique.

In This Corner

With Ray Crandall

Wayne Melchiori of Stambaugh is Coach Bennie Oosterbaan's second choice for starting center on the 1951 University of Michigan football squad. . . . Actually, the center hole has the Wolverine mentor plenty worried. . . . It is the one spot on the entire team without a returning letterman. . . . Melchiori, who comes from a long line of Stambaugh athletic greats, is ranked second to Emil Morlock, a 200-pounder from Grand Rapids. . . . Another major problem facing Oosterbaan and his staff as they prepare to defend the Big Ten title is a left halfback, key to Michigan's offense.

At Michigan State, Biggie Munn says "We've got several guys who can fill Sonny's shoes, but what I want to know is can any of them run in them." . . . He was referring, of course, to the graduated All American halfback, Sonny Grandelius. . . . State is being boomed as the "best in the mid-West" and "first or second in the nation."

Russ Hiltonen was tagged with another loss on the Oshkosh mound Wednesday night at Green Bay. . . . Russ came into the game during a fifth-inning Green Bay uprising which saw seven runs cross the plate. . . . The former Escanaba Bear hurler entered with his Giants leading 5-4. . . . He gave up two singles and a walk and let in a pair of runs. . . . The Wednesday night doubleheader between the two teams battling it out for second place in the Wisconsin State league saw players and managers of both clubs ready to swing fists following such irregularities as dusting off the batter, throwing the bat at the pitcher, bumping the infielder and tripping the base runner.

Condition is believed to be one of the main reasons for the Green Bay Packers fine performance against the Chicago Cards in their last exhibition game. . . . The 46-player Packer squad weighs a total of 9,761 pounds, as the program reads. . . . But the same team packs around 9,500, or less, by the weight chart. . . . Many veteran Packers are supposed to be down to their long-ago high school weights.

Junior Legion Series To Open

DETROIT (AP)—Four teams from as far distant as New York and California will fight it out in the American Legion's "Junior world series" baseball championship in a four-day tournament starting here Tuesday.

The four survivors from among some 16,300 teams in a series of eliminations, are White Plains, N. Y., Jacksonville, Fla., Cincinnati, O., and Los Angeles.

Sponsors of the tournament bill it as a training ground for the major league stars of tomorrow.

They proudly point out that Ted Williams, George Kell, Hal Newhouser, Ralph Kiner, Stan Musial and a host of others came up through the legion program.

A doubleheader Tuesday morning will kick off the two-defeats-and-out play. First round opponents will be drawn by lot Sunday.

Winners of the two games will meet Wednesday afternoon. Losers will do likewise. Single night games are scheduled for Thursday and Friday. If a seventh game is needed, it will be played Saturday afternoon.

In sectional finals this week White Plains defeated Washington 6-5, Jacksonville shut out Sandston, Va., 3-0, Cincinnati ousted Wichita, Kans., 5-2, and Los Angeles knocked out Omaha 3-2.

The Escanaba Bears face Hermansville here Sunday in the feature Tri County Baseball league clash, with a chance to clinch first place in the offing for Manager Phil Brazeau's club.

The game will be a booster affair for the Bears and advance tickets have been sold this week. Largest crowd of the season is anticipated.

In the first meeting of the teams, Escanaba won 6-1 but the decision was reversed by the league protest board because the Bears used an ineligible player.

Mel To Pitch

Mel Karkkainen, pitcher, was not on the Bear roster in time for use against Hermansville. The board made Karkkainen eligible for the second half and he will no doubt hurl tomorrow.

Hermansville will send veteran Mel Sandrin to the hill in the regular season finale. In fourth place, Hermansville needs a win to snare a playoff berth.

Two top division clubs will clash at Perronville with Foster City the invading club. Perronville, in second place, travels to Wallace for a Labor Day doubleheader that will close the regular season.

Bark River travels to Wilson and Stephenson to Daggett in remaining games.

Brownies Return To Haunt Pennant Chasing Cleveland

BY RALPH RODEN

(Associated Press Sports Writer)
Generally, the St. Louis Browns are used as stepping stones by pennant contending teams in the American league. But that's not the case when the Browns are the opposition.

The Browns, hibernating in last place, 40 games off the pace, helped knock the Indians out of the 1950 race and last night dealt the Tribe a staggering blow in the current flag chase.

St. Louis defeated the Indians, 6-3, to dump the Tribe one game behind the idle New York Yankees. The victory was the lowly Browns' fifth in 16 meetings with Cleveland. The Yanks hold a 17-3 chase. St. Louis defeated the Indians, 6-3, to dump the Tribe one game behind the idle New York Yankees. The victory was the lowly Browns' fifth in 16 meetings with Cleveland. The Yanks hold a 17-3 record against the Browns and the third place Boston Red Sox boast a 16-5 record over the Missourians.

Paige To Rescue
The Browns killed Cleveland's flag hopes last year. The Indians were 4½ games behind on Sept. 9 when the Browns came in and swept a four games series to balk Cleveland's threat.

Jim McDonald, with help from Satchel Paige, stopped the Indians before 23,088 fans at Cleveland last night. Paige, former Indian, rushed to the rescue in the ninth after the first two Tribesmen reached base.

Paige walked pinch-hitter Early Wynn to load the sacks but old Satch nailed Dale Mitchell on a foul, got Bob Avila to force George Stinewiss at second and struck out Larry Doby to end the game.

Lemon Loser
The Browns pounded Bob Lemon, gunning for his eighth straight and 17th victory. Lou Brissie for 11 hits. Hank Arft was the Browns' big gun, driving in four runs on a homer and two singles. Fred Marsh also homered for the Browns while Lemon drove in Cleveland's first two runs with a circuit blow in the seventh.

The Yanks, off the past two days, resume action today with the Senators in Washington. Ed Lopat (16-7) is slated to face Washington's Sid Hudson (4-8). The Indians again entertain the Browns while the third place Red Sox take on Philadelphia in Boston.

In the only other game yesterday the Chicago White Sox blanked the Detroit Tigers, 2-0. Saul Rogovin, former Tiger, limited the Bengals to seven hits. Tiger pitcher Marlin Stuart deserved a better fate. Stuart banged out a triple and two singles and allow-

Mystery Of Missing Baseball Is Puzzler

CLEVELAND (AP)—"You people in Cleveland have some darned good ball players," St. Louis Browns Manager Zack Taylor insisted today.

Zack, of course, was not talking about the Indians. He meant one of the fans in the right field stands. He is positive one of them caught Bob Lemon's home run ball in the seventh inning last night.

Cliff Mapes, who is paid to catch baseballs, was standing in right field when Lemon smacked one. According to Mapes and Taylor, Mapes stood against the wall, and without jumping put the glove in the line of flight.

Hand Reached Out
When he squeezed, they said, nothing was there, but at that very moment a "human hand" reached out.

Umpire Bill Sammers—a "good umpire" in Taylor's words

—decisively ruled that the ball bounced off Mapes' glove into the stands. One lady, seated six or seven rows back, held up the sphere as proof and the other fans in that section argued that Summers was right.

But Taylor was so sure Mapes had the correct version that he argued until he was thrown out of the game.

Won Anyway

"I still think a fan—I don't know whether it was a man or woman—caught that ball," he said good naturedly (after all, he won, 6 to 3) "and I think he or she should own up to it."

"Mapes was so amazed when the ball wasn't in his glove, he started looking for it on the ground and couldn't find it. It was the darnedest thing you ever saw."

Mapes reported: "A fan reached right out and grabbed it. I should have pulled him out of the stands."

CHAMPION AND RUNNERUP—Mrs. Ruth Needham (right) is shown at the Escanaba Golf club links after winning the woman's championship tournament last week. Mrs. Needham eliminated Mrs. Elaine Rose, 6-5, in the final match last Thursday afternoon. Mrs. Needham is a former Escanaba club champion while Mrs. Rose was competing in her first finals match. # Softball Tourney Opens Tonight At Memorial Diamond

Opening round games in the Tournament of Champions will be played tonight, with three hits on tap at Memorial field.

Semi-finals the seven team tourney will be staged Sunday afternoon at 2:15 and 3:30. Finals will be at 8:30 Sunday night.

Girls Teams

Two girls teams will compete in the tourney with Tim & Sally's facing Delta Hardware in the Sunday night preliminary at 7:15.

Openers tonight will pit No. Names against Kipling at 7, Carney against Clairmont Americans at 8:15 and White Birch against Paper Mill at 9:30.

The winner of the No. Names-Kipling game will meet Mehrman's Plumbers of Marquette Sunday afternoon. Winners of the other two openers will meet at 2:15 Sunday.

CCI Out

CCI of Ishpeming was forced to drop from the tournament because of lack of players. The same reason forced Ev's Bar from the picture.

In the final game tonight, Paper Mill will use Tom Elgeert or Paul Larson on the mound with Dave Larson catching. White Birch will call on the Lancour brothers. Paper Mill players have been asked to be at the field at 9.

FIGHTS LAST NIGHT

New Orleans—Joe Brown, 134, New Orleans, knocked out Tommy Campbell, 137½, Los Angeles, 10.
Long Beach, N. Y.—Bobby Lloyd, 143½, Wilkes-Barre, Pa., outpointed Charlie Eames, 145, Brooklyn, 8.
Erie, Idaho—Harry Kid Matthews, 176½, Seattle, knocked out Dave Whitlock, 176½, San Francisco, 6.
Hollywood—Joe Lopez, 131½, Sacramento, outpointed Charley Riley, 131, St. Louis, 10.

Yale quarterback Jim Ryan returned a kickoff 97 yards for a touchdown last season against Fordham.

Rogovin Whips Tigers 2-0 To Give Rolfe Nightmares

DETROIT (AP)—M Red Rolfe was sleepless last night, Saul Rogovin probably was the cause.

The Detroit manager had plenty of reason for dismay as he thought back on the way Rogovin shut out the Tigers 2-0 with one of the classiest pitching jobs of the year.

It was the second time in three weeks that the big righthander, who has become one of the league's top pitchers since joining the Chicago White Sox, blanked his old teammates.

Same Score
He did it August 15 on a five hitter and by an identical 2-0 score. Last night he gave up seven hits.

Only one Tiger got past first base. That was Detroit's luckless pitcher, Marlin Stuart, who twirled a neat six-hitter only to see his defense collapse in Chicago's two run sixth. Stuart lost a tough 1-0 decision to the Athletics Monday.

Stuart personally collected three hits, including a tremendous triple. His triple, which came with two out in the fifth, made him the only Tiger to get past first base. The Tigers' No. 1 hitter George Kell, could do nothing with Rogovin's stuff. He went out four times.

It was the Tigers' 14th whitewashing of the year and the fourth at the hands of the White Sox.

Errors Start
The Sox broke up the pitching duel in the sixth. Nelson Fox opened with a single. He stole second and took third as catcher Bob Swift threw wild.

Orestes Mino hit a routine grounder at shortstop Johnny Lipon who booted it for a two-base error. Fox racing home with the first run. Eddie Robinson singled Mino home.

It was a great personal triumph for Rogovin, who never accomplished much in a Tiger uniform. The win was No. 10 for the big boy from Brooklyn and marked his 15th complete game in 22 starts. No Tiger pitcher has finished more than seven complete games this year.

CITY CHAMPIONS—Tim & Sally's girl softball team, champions of the city of Escanaba, are pictured above with the trophy won last Saturday night in tournament play with the Delta Hardware. It was the second straight city crown captured by the team, Deltas won the title in 1949.

The team will play Delta Hardware in the tournament of champions which gets under way here tonight. Men's teams from throughout the Peninsula will also compete. Patsy Willette, second base, was voted most valuable player by her team mates. Captain is Ruby Stoykovich, catcher.

Need Fullback
Elsewhere in the backfield, where a good fullback is needed to succeed durable Don Dufek, the frosh group will provide Dan Cline, Ed Hickey, Jim Kopp, Fred Baer, Joe Kral and Tom Newbrough. Little is known of these backs but the coaches are out to find out in a hurry.

Glen Bowers, a four-times all-stater from Mesa, Ariz., is a prime prospect for the center post which has no veteran candidates in the entire Wolverine camp.

With Bowers are Dean Ludwig, O., and Eugene Snider, a Ham-tramck product. A half dozen ends will boost Michigan's already-good flanker delegation. John Veselenak, another graduate of the famed 1950 Flint northern team will be joined by George Muellich, Ken Wiley, Pete Wolgast, Leo Schligh and James Dutcher.

Tackles
The big contingent is out for the tackle slot. Louis Marcetti, Bob Milligan, Joe Schmosky, Art Walker, John Treadway, Ed Swanson and Ken Shields are all home state boys. John Sully and Harry Kates completes the list.

Then there's a three-man guard group of Ted Caehey, Carl Dubac and James Wagner.

That group of freshmen plus 22 returning lettermen and 45 other returning veterans will provide the raw material for Michigan's 1951 squad that opens against high-rated, arch-foe Michigan State here Sept. 29.

They could make a lot of difference.

Twenty-two players, just enough for the two team practice game, took part.

Name Assistant St. Joe Coach

Ira Hanson, 1948 graduate of Northern Michigan College of Education, has been named assistant coach at St. Joseph high school.

Hanson, who played football with St. Joe mentor Tom St. Germain, is a former Munising high school athlete. He played football for three years at Northern and is teaching at Nahma. He is coaching linemen at St. Joe.

Intra-Squad Game

St. Joe played its first intra-squad game in the rain yesterday afternoon. The first team backed and the second team line teamed up to beat the first string line and second string backs, 33-9.

Bill Baker scored three TDs for the winners and Jim Gravelle, shifted from end to right half, tallied the other two. The losers registered one touchdown and a safety. Lon Mileski hit paydirt on an end-around.

Twenty-two players, just enough for the two team practice game, took part.

Wolverine Grid Mentors Eye 34 Potential Freshman Candidates

ANN ARBOR, Mich.—(AP)—Like a kid coming down the stairs Christmas morning, the Michigan football coaches will greet 34 freshman football prospects here today.

Big-eyed and anxious, coach Bennie Oosterbaan and his aides are hoping against hope they'll find, above all else, a big, strong left halfback who can pass and run.

For on that hope hinges much of Michigan's chances of holding on to at least part of the glory the Wolverines had in winning or sharing the western conference championship for four years.

Promising Frosh
The freshman group—first eligible for competition since the war days—will be followed Sept. 5 by returning upperclassmen.

One promising frosh is Duncan McDonald, from Flint Northern. Talent-wise, the 180-pound, 18-year-old looks like such famed Wolverine tailbacks as Chuck Ortmann and Bob Chappuis. Running ability, a necessary addition for a good tailback in Michigan's single-wing system, is the question.

Don Evans, of Chagrin Falls, O., is a runner of repute but may not have the required passing arm. Others slated for candidacy at left half are John Antico, of Baseline, Bill Barlow, Bellefontaine, O., Don Eaddy of Grand Rapids, Russ Swaney, of East Grand Rapids and Don Becker of Saginaw.

Need Fullback
Elsewhere in the backfield, where a good fullback is needed to succeed durable Don Dufek, the frosh group will provide Dan Cline, Ed Hickey, Jim Kopp, Fred Baer, Joe Kral and Tom Newbrough. Little is known of these backs but the coaches are out to find out in a hurry.

Days of sadness still come o'er us, Tears in silence often flow, For memory keeps you ever near us, Though you died eight years ago. In our hearts your memory lingers, Loving, tender, kind and true. There is not a day that we forget you, That we do not think of you. Memories are treasures no one can steal, Death leaves a wound no one can heal. You are not forgotten dear, Nor ever shall you be. As long as life and memories last, We shall remember thee.

Eva Peron Gives Up Chances For Vice-Presidency

BUENOS AIRES, Argentina—(AP)—Blonde 29-year-old Eva Peron tearfully gave up her chance last night to become the first woman vice-president in the Western Hemisphere.

The dynamic wife of President Juan D. Peron announced that she could not accept the Peronista party nomination.

Speaking over the radio from the presidential residence, the woman who has guided the nation's labor policies, said she had reached an "irrevocable decision to renounce the high honor" of running with her husband in the Nov. 11 election.

It had been reported that her nomination by the Peronista party was opposed by some sections of the army because of the possibility she might become president and commander-in-chief. Even a sizeable group within the Peronista party was said to oppose putting her name on a Peron-Peron ticket—a nomination which virtually would have assured election.

Mrs. Peron stepped aside in favor of white-haired Hortensio Quijano, who has been Peron's silent vice - presidential partner since his election in 1946.

Argentina's first lady—the first to take an active part in public affairs—was nominated by the party Aug. 22 after 250,000 pro-government workers and party followers loudly demanded that she and her husband "rule Argentina forever."

Attack Of Allies Clicks In Korea

Korea was pushing into wild mountain country despite bitter resistance from Red troops fighting from wooden, stone and earthen bunkers.

In central Korea, other U. N. units battled up hills near the old "Iron Triangle." They captured two hills southeast of Kumsong after close quarter hand grenade duels.

The Reds clung to two other hills, pouring down machinegun, mortar and rifle fire.

Fifty Miles Inland
Kumsong is 29 miles north of parallel 38 and nearly 50 miles inland from the east coast.

The stepped-up actions from the center to the east coast were along the north - south valleys of the upper Pukhan, Suripchon and Soyang Rivers.

This morning's general headquarters communique in Tokyo reported on the east Korean fighting:

"United Nations warships and carrier-based aircraft combined their tremendous firepower to strike hard at enemy troops in the Kansong area in one of the heaviest sea, naval and air attacks of the Korean campaign.

"Naval and marine aircraft blasted targets in advance of United Nations ground forces south of Kansong and also hit gun positions, railroad bridges and supply routes on the east coast from Won san, north of Songjin."

Peak Recaptured
The 16-inch rifles of the battleship New Jersey added their tremendous firepower to the bombardment.

Allied-held Kansong is on the east coast 25 miles north of the 38th Parallel. Songjin is deep inside North Korea near the 41st Parallel.

The battle in eastern Korea saw-sawed across a line dominated by mountains reaching up to 3,500 feet.

Three hills in the eastern sector fell to the U. N. forces Friday, including a 2,500-foot peak lost to a Red counterattack three days ago.

The fighting was northeast of "Fool's Mountain" for high ground dominating a punchbowl-shaped area nearly 20 miles southwest of Kansong.

Immediately after a decision was reached for Red and Allied delegates to talk truce at Kaesong, battle action subsided to patrols. bit by bit, as the Reds at Kaesong put one obstacle after another in the way of an armistice agreement, the war pace has quickened.

Haircuts $1.50

DETROIT—(AP)—The price of a haircut in Royal Oak and other northern suburbs of Detroit has gone up to $1.50 on weekdays. But the price is going to stay at $1.25 in Detroit, at least for the present, Charles Good, president of Local 552, AFL Barbers union, said yesterday.

Finds Banded Bird—Pete Gagner, of Rapid River, found a pigeon five miles south of Rapid River on Stonington road Wednesday. They recorded the numbers on the bands and asked him to release the bird.

Friend Of Truman Sued For $354,300 By His Promoter

NEW YORK—(AP)—C. Blevins Davis, a friend of President Truman, is being sued for $354,300 by a New York City importer who says he promoted Davis' marriage to a railroad heiress.

The New Yorker, Joseph William Collins, started suit in state supreme court yesterday. He claims he promoted Davis socially and set up the latter's 1946 marriage to the former Mrs. Margaret Hill. She died in 1948, leaving Davis the bulk of an $80,000,000 estate.

Davis entered a general denial of the charges and asked that the suit be dismissed.

Collins charges Davis promised him—but never gave him—a $200,000 ranch for his marriage broker work.

Last night, at his Colorado Springs, Colo., estate, Davis said Collins' story was not true. He said he doubted whether Collins ever had known his wife. His only contact with Collins, Davis added, was many years ago in New York when Collins did some work for him with the National Broadcasting Company.

After his wife's death Davis fell heir to an estate just outside Independence, Mo., President Truman's hometown. He has played host to the Trumans there, has been a frequent escort of Margaret Truman, and in return has been a White House visitor.

Baker And Miller Face Charges In France's Poisoned Flour Case

PONT SAINT ESPRIT, France—(AP)—The police have filed charges of involuntary homicide against a miller and a baker charged with providing the flour which killed four persons, made 28 seriously ill and drove more than 100 temporarily insane.

Conviction carries penalties up to three years in jail and fines up to $3,400.

The two accused men are Miller Maurice Maillet, 40, of Saint-Martin-Lariviere and Baker Roland Bruere of the same town. Which is on the other side of France from Pont Saint Esprit.

Police quoted Maillet as saying he had sent the flour here because it was of poor quality and he did not want to sell it to his neighbors. The flour which was baked into bread allegedly contained ergot, a fungus growth which paralyzes the nerve ends.

Clouds Hide Eclipse For Michigan Folks

DETROIT—(AP)—The partial eclipse of the sun was mostly eclipsed by the clouds over Michigan today.

The weather bureau here said a heavy overcast curtailed a view of the eclipse everywhere in the state except in the northern part of the Upper Peninsula.

The lower three-fourths of the sun was hidden by the moon from 5:57 a. m. until 10:48 a. m. (EST), the bureau said.

Another eclipse is not expected here until 1984.

Construction Industry Pay Raise Authorized

WASHINGTON—(AP)—The Wage Stabilization Board has authorized its construction industry stabilization commission to approve wage increases up to 10 per cent over the level of rates prevailing in the construction industry at the outbreak of the Korean war.

The new wage stabilization formula for the industry, issued yesterday, employs a June 24, 1950 base date for calculating wage increases, instead of the January 15, 1950 base in effect for most other industries.

Minors Questioned On Beer Purchases

Six youngsters, all under the age of 21, were questioned by local police this morning after they were ticketed for drinking beer in automobiles near the K-C club Friday evening.

Police are seeking to learn where the minors secured the beer.

Forest Service Seeking Cones

Pay $5 Per Bushel For Norway Pine

The U. S. Forest Service is in the market for up to 75 bushels of Norway or Red pine cones for which it will pay $5 per bushel, it was announced by Art Shafer, district ranger, Rapid River.

Cones should not be picked until they are ripe, he warned. When ripe the cones are deep purple color with brown on the scale tips. Freshly picked cones can be tested or ripeness by dropping them in kerosene. If the majority float they are ripe.

Norway or Red pine cones will not be ripe this year until about Sept. 15, Shafer said.

The district ranger also warned cone pickers not to damage trees, and advised obtaining permission of property owners before entering upon other's lands.

Fall planting of 350,000 two-year-old seedling stock of Red pine from a downstate nursery will start on 316 acres in the Rapid River district of Hiawatha National Forest about Sept. 15, Shafer announced.

The seedlings will be hand planted and applications for work will be received from able-bodied men 17 and older. About 25 men will be needed.

Appropriation Bills For Over 10 Billion Signed By President

WASHINGTON—(AP)—President Truman yesterday signed four appropriation bills totaling about $10,000,000,000. One authorizes the building of 50,000 public housing units this year.

All measures finance the operation of various agencies including labor, agriculture and interior departments for the fiscal year ending June 30.

And all cut federal employment of the agencies and departments involved by 10 per cent. One of the new laws carries an amendment which limits vacations of all federal workers except postal employees and those working abroad to 20 days, a 6-day cut in most cases.

Detroit Judge Tells DPs They Have To Wear More On Beach

DETROIT—(AP)—Miss Baleslava Lukowski, 19, accused of being indecently clad at a public beach, opened her purse. She pulled out a pair of green panties for the judge to see.

"What's that? A handkerchief?" Judge Gerald W. Groat asked.

Miss Lukowski explained that tiny bras and the green panties were acceptable beach attire in Germany where she came from.

Appearing in court with the young woman was Frederick Ziedler, 25. Police also had objected to his scanty attire—jockey shorts. The two were arrested on a beach.

Judge Groat fined Siedlar $25 and placed Miss Lukowski on probation for a year. He suggested they get accepted American bathing suits.

Both are displaced Poles who came here recently from Germany.

Iron River Takes Bessemer, 24 And 0; Kingsford Wins, 13-7

MARQUETTE, Mich.—(AP)—The Michigan high school football season got underway in the Upper Peninsula last night, with two Menominee range teams defeating eleven from the Gogebic range.

Iron River, one of two unbeaten high schools in the peninsula a year ago, added to its string with a convincing 24-0 triumph over Bessemer. Kingsford won at Ironwood, 13-7.

The only other scheduled game, a Great Lakes conference opener between Manistique and Ishpeming, was delayed until tonight because of weather conditions.

Five contests are scheduled for this afternoon and tonight:

Negaunee at Stambaugh, Crystal Falls at Norway, Wakefield at Hurley, Wis., Sault Ste. Marie at Munising, Hancock at Calumet.

Communists Bomb Themselves, Stir Up Propaganda

by Marine Col. J. C. Murray, three air force experts, staff assistants and four newsmen. The investigation lasted three hours and 50 minutes.

The Reds had charged a United Nations warplane bombed the city at 12:30 a. m. Saturday. They said the bombs fell near the residence of North Korean Lt. Gen. Nam Il, senior Red delegate to the cease-fire talks.

There was action in the war of words, too:

A headquarters statement released in Tokyo, said:

"... One thing is becoming certain; the longer the Reds persist in their two-faced attitude about peace, the easier it will become for the world to see through it. They may have overplayed their hand in their trumped-up charges of the 'bombing' of Kaesong. These charges actually are reacting against them and may be helpful to the cause of real peace."

"First of all, if the Communists refuse to continue the talks, it will be taken as the last conclusive evidence of their bad faith. In this case, there is no doubt as to the course of action the world must take."

"Secondly, if the Reds accept General Ridgway's offer to resume the talks, the manufactured incident is helpful as a lesson in Communist tactics. It will be an indication of further absurdities to come in the months ahead. It will give the United Nations a new insight into the complex evil of the Communist mind."

The statement was one of a series extracted from "Voice of the U. N. Command" broadcasts to Korea.

Singer Wants Chance To Disprove Charges Made By Mrs. Cugat

SANTA MONICA, Calif.—(AP)—Abbie Lane, 19-year-old thrush and central figure in the Xavier Cugat marital triangle, wants her "day in court" to disprove charges made against her by Cugat's wife.

Her lawyer said so yesterday in opposing an order for a deposition answering the charges, specifically that Miss Lane was disrobed in front of Cugat in a Chicago hotel room.

Cugat's wife, Lorraine has said she has a nude photograph, taken by a private detective, of Miss Lane in the hotel room. She has named the singer co-respondent in a separate maintenance action.

Miss Lane's lawyer, Loyd Saunders, said the singer has an affidavit from the detective stating no such picture was ever taken.

Saginaw Bay Area Lashed By Storm

"Sally-VI," was caught in the storm about 3 p. m. The boat became uncontrollable in the heavy seas and they drifted dangerously.

Flares Sent Up

Distress flares were sent up from the boat. State police, the U. S. Coast Guard and the Huron county sheriff's office went into action. A Coast Guard boat went to the scene but the high waves prevented it from getting to the cruiser. State police stood by for the shore. The sheriff's office sent up an airplane but the high waves prevented it from helping.

The cruiser finally drifted to shore about one half mile west of McGraw park between Caseville and Port Austin on Highway M-25. State police and residents along the shore waded into the water and helped the middle-aged couples ashore. They were uninjured but had suffered from exposure to the buffeting waves and wind.

The cruiser was beached but it was not seriously damaged, police said.

The Ohioans had set out Wednesday from Sandusky, O., on a trip through the Great Lakes to Mackinac Island. It was the maiden voyage of the cruiser, owned by Martin, an automobile dealer.

Docks Washed Away

In the Lake Huron area between East Tawas and Oscoda the wind and waves damaged cottages and knocked boats from their cradles. Damage was expected to run into the thousands of dollars, the Coast Guard reported.

At Linwood and Bissette beaches, about seven miles northwest of Bay City, docks and boats were damaged and retaining walls washed away. Some cottagers had to leave shore-front homes because of high water.

One cottager reported the water was dashing against a front window and had washed away the porch. The water normally is from 30 to 40 feet away from the cottage.

The northeaster struck without warning at mid-afternoon. It still was blowing last midnight.

The storm dropped the temperature in the Saginaw bay area 20 degrees from a high in the 80s in less than an hour.

Wisconsin Sportsmen Marooned For Month In Canadian Wilds

THE PAS, Man.—Two Wisconsin sportsmen have arrived here after being marooned for a month in the Canadian wilds.

They are Dr. John A. Tasche of Sheboygan, Wis., and Niles Eichenberger of Plymouth, Wis., who disappeared in the trackless woods of North Saskatchewan Aug. 2. They had flown north on a fishing trip.

The Royal Canadian Air Force abandoned the search for the two Aug. 20, but it was resumed with the help of the United States Air Force. They were found 470 miles north of here and were flown in last night.

They appeared to be in good shape.

Because of over-crowding at the Barr school, one of its two Fifth grades must be moved to the Jefferson school this year, it was announced today by Supt. John A. Lemmer.

Barr Over-Crowded, Move Fifth Grade To Jefferson School

Pupils who will be transferred from the Barr Fifth to the Jefferson Fifth grade will be notified of their transfer Tuesday morning.

In other transfers affecting about 25 city grade school pupils the parents have already been notified, Supt. Lemmer said.

The enrollment in some grades including those at the Barr, is higher this year than in the past, necessitating transfer of pupils.

Another Airplane Missing In Alaska

ANCHORAGE, Alaska—(AP)—An air force C-47 with four aboard was reported missing in Alaska on the heels of the crash of a navy privateer in the Aleutians yesterday carrying 10 men.

The two were the eighth and ninth planes reported crashed or missing in Alaska in a disastrous string of accidents the past six weeks. About 85 are dead or missing in the accidents.

The C-47, from the 5039th base flight squadron at Elmendorf field here, disappeared last night on a flight between Lattin and Naknek.

The wreckage of the Privateer was located late yesterday on Little Tanga Island. A search party "which went by boat and then overland to the crash scene recovered eight bodies. There was no report of any survivors.

Little Michigan Legislature Gets Variety Of Jobs

purpose out of the $3,000,000 but it still did not appropriate it directly to Wayne county. And it did nothing about the committee's recommendation for distribution of the rest of the $3,000,000.

With the committee recommendations before it and with its own action for Wayne county on the record, the full legislature still left the actual appropriation of the money to the "Little Legislature."

Now another matter has come up.

Carrybacks Are Problem

Traditionally a few state agencies run over their annual appropriations a little, because, at the end of the fiscal year, they never know exactly how much they have left. They contract for supplies or services toward the end of the fiscal year. When the bills come in later, accountants have been busy and have found that the appropriation for that year has run out.

Usually this situation has been handled by the state administrative board. Last year it permitted agencies to use a total of $87,500 out of their 1950-51 appropriations to pay last minute 1949-50 bills.

This year it has already permitted two such "carrybacks" totaling $11,470.

Remaining, however, are 22 more "carrybacks" totaling $35,400.

The House and Senate finance committees, have gotten concerned over the legality of the administrative board's handling of this obviously legislative function.

Their suggestion is that the "Little Legislature" do it.

State controller Robert F. Steadman has asked for an attorney general's opinion on the whole matter, and there it rests for the moment.

The point here is that again the legislature is casting its eyes on the "Little Legislature" for a more important role in the legislative branch of state government.

Governor Plans Busy Labor Day

LANSING—(AP)—A hectic Labor Day schedule—with the emphasis on labor—was mapped out today for Governor Williams.

Williams planned to visit five cities and make six speeches, all but one before union groups.

Senator Blair Moody (D-Michigan) will accompany Williams on his busy Monday.

The schedule:
10 a. m. to 1 p. m.—Take part in parade and speak on Detroit city hall steps at the AFL-CIO joint Labor Day celebration.

2:30—Speak and lunch at Labor Day celebration of Pontiac Industrial Union Council, Oakland Park, Pontiac.

5:00—Speak at AFL United Labor celebration, Ramona Park, Grand Rapids.
